Death & Dying: Comparative Views
Winter 2020 / Online
Jeremy Cohen UH B137 cohenj10@mcmaster.ca
Office Hours: Tuesdays, 10:45-noon, UH B137

COURSE OVERVIEW:

This course will compare various funerary and bereavement practices from around the world. Through consideration of examples as diverse as Indonesian mummy cleaning, Tibetan corpse exposure, dark tourism, and North American death-care practices, students will discover how relationships to death and to the dead are formed by culture, politics, history and religion. In the first half of the course, students will situate death and bereavement practices from around the world within their particular historical and cultural circumstances, including how colonialization and globalization create changes in mortuary practices.

The second half of the course will turn to North America in order to complicate the notion of a uniform “Western” experience of death. Students will consider how familiar “Western” practices are also shaped by culture, politics, history and religion, including how indigenous and black North American experiences fit into our rich mosaic of death, dying and bereavement.

COURSE OBJECTIVES:

1. To provide students with an introductory survey of selected aspects of the cultural, historical, political and religious considerations of death, dying and bereavement.
2. To familiarize students with interdisciplinary perspectives around issues of death and dying within the fields of anthropology, religious studies, gender studies, geography, history, etc.
3. To cultivate analytical, reflective and critical thought regarding student’s own and others’ attitudes toward death, dying and bereavement.
4. To demonstrate an understanding of the complexities involved in funeral experiences and death rituals.
5. To challenge assumptions regarding contemporary “Western” funeral and burial practices, through gendered, class and racialized experiences in North America.

REQUIRED TEXTS:

All course readings will be made available for free on Avenue as .pdf files.

Films will be accessible through Kanopy, Vimeo, YouTube, PBS or the National Film Board of Canada (NFB). Links will be posted on Avenue, and are available within this syllabus.

One of the following books will be required for the book review. More information about the assignment, and links to purchase books will be made available on Avenue.
Each student is responsible for completing all the assigned weekly readings and watching the posted video lectures and films. These will prepare you for the weekly online discussion questions and course assignments. PowerPoint slides will be made available before the video lectures are posted each week. Video lectures will be uploaded to YouTube, but will be taken offline after exactly one week. All written assignments must be uploaded to Avenue in .docx or .pdf format (NO .pages).

Grades will be determined on the following basis:

Participation 15%: Students will be graded based on their weekly participation on the Avenue discussion board, and for watching the weekly video lectures. It is your responsibility to answer the posted discussion questions, and participate in conversation with fellow classmates. Discussion questions will be closed once the following week’s question is posted. In order to receive a grade each week (1% per question), students have the option of either answering the posted question directly, or providing a thoughtful and respectful response to another student. Answers and responses must be a minimum of 60 words to a maximum of 250 words.

Quizzes 30%: Three online quizzes will be posted on Avenue. The questions will relate to course material (films, lectures, readings) from before the date of the quiz. Students will have 24 hours to initiate each quiz on Avenue, and one hour complete each quiz once initiated.

Book Review 30%: Students will pick one book from a short list (see above). Students will have until March 23, 2020 to read their chosen book, write, and submit their review. Students are advised to pick a book based on their interest in the given topic. Students will be asked to critically reflect on the book in their review. Detailed instructions will be posted on Avenue.

1. ACADEMIC INTEGRITY

You are expected to exhibit honesty and use ethical behaviour in all aspects of the learning process. Academic credentials you earn are rooted in principles of honesty and academic integrity. Academic dishonesty is to knowingly act or fail to act in a way that results or could result in unearned academic credit or advantage. This behaviour can result in serious consequences, e.g. the grade of zero on an assignment, loss of credit with a notation on the transcript (notation reads: “Grade of F assigned for academic dishonesty”), and/or suspension or expulsion from the university. It is your responsibility to understand what constitutes academic dishonesty. For information on the various types of academic dishonesty please refer to the Academic Integrity Policy, located at www.mcmaster.ca/academicintegrity.

The following illustrates only three forms of academic dishonesty:
• Plagiarism, e.g. the submission of work that is not one’s own or for which other credit has been obtained.
• Improper collaboration in group work.
• Copying or using unauthorized aids in tests and examinations.

2. AUTHENTICITY / PLAGIARISM

In this course we will be using a web-based service (Turnitin.com) to reveal authenticity and ownership of student submitted work. Students will be expected to submit their work electronically either directly to Turnitin.com or via Avenue to Learn (A2L) plagiarism detection (a service supported by Turnitin.com) so it can be checked for academic dishonesty. Students who do not wish to submit their work through A2L and/or Turnitin.com must still submit an electronic and/or hardcopy to the instructor. No penalty will be assigned to a student who does not submit work to Turnitin.com or A2L. All submitted work is subject to normal verification that standards of academic integrity have been upheld (e.g., on-line search, other software, etc.). To see the Turnitin.com Policy, please go to www.mcmaster.ca/academicintegrity.

3. ONLINE CONSENT

In this course we will be using Avenue to Learn (A2L). Students should be aware that, when they access the electronic components of this course, private information such as first and last names, user names for the McMaster e-mail accounts, and program affiliation may become apparent to all other students in the same course. The available information is dependent on the technology used. Continuation in this course will be deemed consent to this disclosure. If you have any questions or concerns about such disclosure please discuss this with the course instructor.

4. ACADEMIC ACCOMMODATION OF STUDENTS WITH DISABILITIES

Students with disabilities who require academic accommodation must contact Student Accessibility Services (SAS) to make arrangements with a Program Coordinator. Student Accessibility Services can be contacted by phone 905-525-9140 ext. 28652 or e-mail sas@mcmaster.ca. For further information, consult McMaster University’s Academic Accommodation of Students with Disabilities policy.

5. REQUESTS FOR RELIEF FOR MISSED ACADEMIC TERM WORK

6. ACADEMIC ACCOMMODATION FOR RELIGIOUS, INDIGENOUS OR SPIRITUAL OBSERVANCES (RISO)

Students requiring academic accommodation based on religious, indigenous or spiritual observances should follow the procedures set out in the RISO policy. Students requiring a RISO accommodation should submit their request to their Faculty Office normally within 10 working days of the beginning of term in which they anticipate a need for accommodation or to the Registrar's Office prior to their examinations. Students should also contact their instructors as soon as possible to make alternative arrangements for classes, assignments, and tests.
