Course Description

In this course, we will examine the interactions between religious beliefs, religious practices, religious practitioners, and healing practices. We will consider topics such as gender and religious vocation, pilgrimage, sexual health, shamanism, and altered states of consciousness, from a social-scientific perspective. In the course of this investigation, we will cover a broad range of religious traditions and time periods.

Course Objectives

• Students will have an understanding of theories of disease and healing within a religious framework.
• Students will develop a more sophisticated understanding of the relationship between cultural context, marginalization, and health.
• Students will become familiar with various methods for the study of religion.

Required Texts

• The majority of course readings are from ebooks and ejournals, available through McMaster Library
• A few short readings will be uploaded to Avenue

Evaluation

• 5 student-generated quizzes (2% each/10% total) – Students will compose five quizzes and submit their quizzes in a dropbox on Avenue to Learn. Each quiz will cover the assigned reading(s).
• Midterm Exam (20%)
• Final Exam (30%)
• Tutorial Participation (10%) – The tutorial mark is divided into attendance (5%) and a tutorial assignment (5%).
• Paper Proposal (10%) – Students will submit a paper proposal that a) outlines the research paper that they will submit, including the argument, and b) includes an annotated bibliography.
• Research Paper (20%) – Each student will submit one 2000 word research paper on a topic of the student’s choice.

Late Submission/Missed Tests

- A test missed as the result of a documented absence may be written at a later date.
- Assignments submitted late will be penalized 3% for the first day late, an additional 2% for the second day late, and 1% for each additional day.
- Please note that undocumented extensions will not be granted for any of the assignments.

Student Accessibility Services

- Students who require academic accommodation must contact Student Accessibility Services (SAS) to make arrangements with a Program Coordinator. Academic accommodations must be arranged for each term of study. Student Accessibility Services can be contacted by phone (905)525-9140 x28652 or email sas@mcmaster.ca. For further information, consult McMaster University’s Policy for Academic Accommodation of Students with Disabilities.

University/Faculty/Department Mandated Statements:

1. Course Modification Warning

The instructor and university reserve the right to modify elements of the course during the term. The university may change the dates and deadlines for any or all courses in extreme circumstances. If either type of modification becomes necessary, reasonable notice and communication with the students will be given with explanation and the opportunity to comment on changes. It is the responsibility of the student to check his/her McMaster email and course websites weekly during the term and to note any changes.

2. Statement on Academic Integrity

You are expected to exhibit honesty and use ethical behaviour in all aspects of the learning process. Academic credentials you earn are rooted in principles of honesty and academic integrity. Academic dishonesty is to knowingly act or fail to act in a way that results or could result in unearned academic credit or advantage. This behaviour can result in serious consequences, e.g. the grade of zero on an assignment, loss of credit with a notation on the transcript (notation reads: “Grade of F assigned for academic dishonesty”), and/or suspension or expulsion from the university. It is your responsibility to understand what constitutes academic dishonesty. For information on the various types of academic dishonesty please refer to the Academic Integrity Policy, located at http://www.mcmaster.ca/academicintegrity. The following illustrates only three forms of academic dishonesty: 1. Plagiarism, e.g. the submission of work that is not one’s own or for which other credit has been obtained. 2. Improper collaboration in group work. 3. Copying or using unauthorized aids in tests and examinations.

3. The McMaster Student Absence Form

The McMaster Student Absence Form (MSAF) (http://www.mcmaster.ca/msaf/) is a self-reporting tool for Undergraduate Students to report MEDICAL absences that last up to 3 days and provides the ability to request accommodation for any missed academic work (that is less than 25% of the course grade). Please note, this tool cannot be used during any final examination period. You may submit a maximum of ONE Academic Work Missed request per term. It is YOUR responsibility to follow up with your instructor immediately regarding the nature of the accommodation. If you are absent for more than 3 days, exceed one request per term, are absent for a reason other than medical, or have missed work worth 25% or more of the final grade, you MUST visit your Faculty Office. You may be required to provide supporting documentation. This form should be filled out when you are about to return to class after your absence.

4. Faculty of Social Sciences E-mail Communication Policy

Effective September 1, 2010, it is the policy of the Faculty of Social Sciences that all e-mail communication sent from students to instructors (including TAs), and from students to staff, must originate from the student’s own McMaster University e-mail account. This policy protects confidentiality and confirms the identity of the student. It is the student’s responsibility to ensure that communication is sent to the university from a McMaster account. If an instructor becomes aware that a communication has come from an alternate address, the instructor may not reply at his or her discretion.

5. Department of Religious Studies Assignment Submission Policy

Staff in the office of the Department of Religious Studies will neither date-stamp nor receive papers and other assignments.
